

Twenty-Year Freighter Aircraft Forecast Fifth Annual Edition: 2010 – 2029

Previously available only through individual client-directed studies, this 50-page in-depth analysis of the current and future freighter aircraft market includes:

- A forecast of freighter aircraft requirements on a model-by-model basis in five-year increments through 2029 under high-growth, low-growth, and variable-growth scenarios
- Analysis/commentary on nineteen aircraft types that will dominate the future freighter market
- A summary of the production status, performance characteristics, conversion program availability, and main attributes determining the suitability of each model as a freighter candidate
- A discussion of new-build freighter aircraft production and the conversion of passenger aircraft to freighter configuration, along with an assessment of the retirement of existing freighters
- A detailed look at the way in which the freighter aircraft market will develop
